

What are the Electric Meter Requirements in the Energy Code?

The energy code requires that residential buildings with individual dwelling units must be metered individually so the energy consumption by each tenant can be measured.